Summary

I live and breathe music, having been taught piano and music theory at a young age, thereafter teaching myself guitar and other instruments. As a rabid music fan, my taste extends to all genres, including classical, opera, rock, bluegrass, country, jazz, ambient, blues, electronic, folk, new age, "world music," R&B, and everything in between. I've also played in marching bands, orchestras, folk, jazz, and rock groups, experimental music collectives, and have taught guitar lessons.
